Harlow Town cup clash abandoned, three-car crash in Third Avenue and power disrupted. Welcome to

OCTOBRRRRRR

By LOUISE SASSOON, News Editor
sassooni@hertsessexnews.co.uk

BLIZZARD conditions brought disruption to some parts of Harlow when severe weather caused by an Arctic blast blew into town and sent temperatures plummeting.

As heavy snow fell on Tuesday night, four people had a lucky escape when they were involved in a three-car pile up in which all the vehicles were written-off on one of the town's busiest roads.

Power lines also suffered as severe weather downed high voltage cables and Harlow Town FC's home game against Billericay was abandoned after 55 minutes – the first time in 17 years weather has caused a home game to be cancelled mid-match.

The chaos started shortly after the winter weather hit the town at around 8.30pm. Sleet and snow driven by high winds battered the area and at about 8.44pm emergency crews were called to Third Avenue after reports of a collision involving a Porsche Boxster, Renault Clio and Renault Megane.

Police closed the road for nearly two hours to allow ambulance and fire crews to attend the scene and for FA-ntastic!

HARLOW Town FC experienced the first symptoms of FA Cup fever after securing a plum first round home tie against League Two side Macclesfield Town on November 8.

The match will evoke memories of the biggest game in the club's history during the FA Cup run in the 1979/80 season which saw them defeat second division Leicester City – including a young Gary Lineker – 1-0 at the Sportcentre in a third round replay. During the 1980/81 and 1991/92 seasons Harlow also reached the first round proper but lost to division two side Charlton Athletic 2-0 and third division Peterborough United 7-0.

This season the Hawks secured their place in the first round after coming through four qualifying rounds. Sunday's draw on ITV1 was watched by around 50 players and fans at Barrows Farm. Harlow was one of the last teams to be picked out of the hat.

Player-manager Ryan Kirby told the Star: "I cannot believe it took so long to get to us.

"We would have liked a big team away like Leeds but it is nice to get a league team at home. It will be fantastic for our supporters."

New partnership to tackle truancy

SCHOOL attendance in Harlow is slowly improving but the town's truancy rate is still among the worst in Essex, according to new figures.

Despite some improvements on last year, the latest statistics published by the Department for Children, Schools and Families show the town still lags behind most of the county in its efforts to curb absenteeism.

This year's overall absence rates are 5.8 per cent for Harlow's primary schools and eight per cent for secondary schools.

However, the percentage of half days missed without authorisation remains above the Essex average for both primary and secondaries.

Jon O'Connor, chairman of the Harlow Education Consortium, said there was still plenty of work to be done to clamp down on regular absentees.

"Harlow schools have always worked hard to promote the importance of attendance and the latest figures suggest we are slowly gaining ground," he told the Star this week. "Due to staffing difficulties within the Essex education welfare service over the past 18 months, our schools have not had as much support as we need, despite the best efforts of colleagues on the ground in Harlow."

Mr O'Connor outlined plans for a new multi-agency approach to tackle the problem – operating under the banner of The Harlow Behaviour and Attendance Partnership – and pointed out the crucial role parents played in combating truancy.

"Our main aim is always to make school exciting, involving and relevant for children and young people – and to encourage parents not to damage their children's futures through term-time holidays or casual absences," he added.

Dressed for a fright night

HALLOWEEN-mad Juliette Turvey really got into the spirit of things when she decked her house out with a ghoulish garden display ready for tomorrow (Friday).

Mum-of-six Juliette (41), of Jocelyns, Old Harlow, went the extra mile to give her house the makeover and hopes her dead-icated efforts will entice trick-or-treaters to make a donation, which she will give to charity.

It took her hours to complete the fang-tastic display but she didn't get bored stiff – the spectacle is her tenth to date.

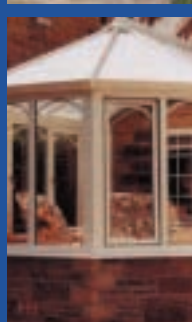

"I absolutely love Halloween," she said. "I told my children that when they move out I will still do it for the little ones that come around. I just wish it lasted for more than one day."

Juliette is raising cash for Help For Heroes, which supports British soldiers wounded in conflict.

Congestion fear aids bypass case

THE case for a Harlow bypass was bolstered this week when planning chiefs identified tackling congestion on the M11 as one of the region's main transport priorities.

The report of a transport summit chaired by the East of England Development Agency accepted the M11 corridor was an area where congestion had a severe productivity impact.

The conclusions of the report are expected to have a significant bearing on the regional funding allocation process during which all regions advise the Government on their transport priorities until 2021.

Harlow MP Bill Rammell, who has already pressed the Department for Transport to include plans for a Harlow bypass in the next allocation, hopes the report will strengthen the case for improved transport links.

"This is even further evidence that something must be done to reduce congestion in our town," he said. "Time and time again, more information is produced to suggest that we desperately need action in this area."

Mr Rammell's Conservative rival Robert Halfon was more cautious. "Obviously, I'm pleased that the East of England Development Agency has recognised the need for improvements, but where's the beef?" he said.

"The fact is that after 10 years of a Labour Government, there is still no suggestion of when or where a Harlow bypass is going to be built."

Banging on about a strange ritual

A FEW weeks ago, Nostalgia featured the bizarre passing-out ritual for apprentices at Shenval press, in Templefields.

Bob Edwards, who worked at the site as a printers' assistant, gave further insight into the ceremony with this photograph, which shows former colleague Brian Lovelock during his 'banging out ceremony' in the late 1950s or early 1960s.

Bob, who is pictured on the left of Mr Lovelock, said: "We covered him from head to toe in ink. What we used to do is put them in a big trolley and then dress them up then go around to all the different departments and everybody went around banging and crashing."

PAH's Orange alert for film

By LOUISE SASSOON

CONTROVERSIAL '70s film A Clockwork Orange is one of the key films of its era but few are aware that some of its scenes were filmed in Harlow.

In fact, the New Town played a huge role in director Stanley Kubrick's thought processes when he was making the film.

Local history officer David Devine tells Nostalgia that before deciding to use Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital for a few of the final scenes, Kubrick had made a trip to the town to see which buildings and areas of its striking architecture he could use as locations.

"Stanley Kubrick knew about Harlow and he visited it to take photographs of potential buildings and locations he could use which were in keeping with the film," he said. "He took a photograph of Harlow Town Station, the Town Hall and Longman's building, which was opposite the train station at the time."

"There could have been a lot of scenes filmed in Harlow - he was looking for a modernistic and brutal architecture which reflected the film's style and the time it was set in, and our town fitted into that well."

In the end, Kubrick opted to shoot a majority of the film in

Thamesmead, Woolwich, which bears a striking resemblance to the architecture at Harlow's Bishopsfield estate.

But he did return to the town to film several scenes in PAH's Arkwright Ward for a sequence near the end of the film which follows a suicide attempt by the main character Alex, played by Malcolm McDowell.

The filming took place for two months in the autumn of 1970 and Mr Devine said that in a recent talk he hosted about A Clockwork Orange, staff working at the hospital said the room was still recognisable.

The film itself became a point of controversy after its release in 1971 when it was accused by the tabloids of inspiring copycat violence, resulting in Kubrick himself deciding to withdraw the film in this country and forbid further showings of it, a state which persisted until his death in 1999.

● DO you have any memories of when filming took place at PAH, or the hype that surrounded its connections with the town at the time?

FROM THE PAGES OF THE STAR 25 YEARS AGO

DISCO'S DEATH?

Apathy among Harlow's youth is killing the town's discos - that's the shock picture on the local pop scene to emerge this week. Just a few months after the closure of Joseph's Discotheque, the future of Tiffany's looks uncertain. And Ian Black, the new promotions manager brought in to revive flagging interest at Tiffany's, puts the blame squarely on the people of Harlow.

RUBBISH CRISIS

Harlow's refuse collection service has reached crisis point and now an independent survey is to be carried out to try to solve the problem. Difficulties arose over three months ago when the council introduced a new refuse collection system and cut the town's dustmen crews from 30 to 20.

RENTS UP 60p?

An extra 60p could be slapped on weekly rents next year if the council decides to increase them at the rate of inflation, which now stands at five per cent. And rates could increase by 79p a week if the county council also decides to keep pace with inflation.

DIVERS FIND DARTS

Police divers searched Netteswell Pond in their attempt to find stolen darts worth £700. Their efforts were not in vain - a large number of the British darts were found in the pond. The divers were called after a man was arrested in connection with the theft of the darts from a British sales representative's lock-up garage in September.

Masked thieves raid OAP's home

A PENSIONER was left shaken after intruders wearing pink masks forced their way into her home during the early hours of the morning.

Police have launched an appeal for witnesses to come forward following the burglary in Gilston.

Two men and a woman entered the property at about 1.30am last Tuesday and confronted the scared 76-year-old homeowner.

They stole a designer bag and purse, a quantity of bank notes and some bank cards before making their getaway in a dark coloured R-registration 4x4 vehicle.

The first male was described as a 30-40, of stocky build and about 1.83m tall (6ft). He was said to be wearing pink woollen mask with eye holes cut into it.

The second was described as being of medium build, 1.68m tall (5ft 6ins) tall and also wearing a pink woollen mask.

The woman was described

By LOUISE SASSOON
News Editor
sassoon@hertsessexnews.co.uk

as being of slim build, 1.52m tall (5ft 2ins) and wearing a baby pink woollen mask.

All three were said to be wearing dark clothing and white shoes.

Their getaway vehicle had a spare wheel attached to the rear door with 'Cuffley' written on the wheel cover.

Detective Sergeant Tim Johnson said: "Although crimes of this severity are rare in Hertfordshire, this incident was extremely distressing for the victim who was shocked though fortunately not injured.

"We are appealing to people who may have information regarding this crime, or who witnessed anyone acting suspiciously in the area before or after the event took place, to come forward. Someone must know who these criminals are."

Anyone with information should call Mr Johnson directly on (01992) 533271.

Juggling with culture

A DAY of Eastern promise proved to be a big hit with visitors to Harlow Library when it hosted a Chinese culture event on Saturday.

Children and families were treated to a display of foot-juggling and had the chance to discover more about China through a storytelling and a painting session.

The event was part of a series of activities the library is holding throughout the year to encourage more people to use the facility and get children interested in reading.

Jail term for sex offender is cut

A SALESMAN who repeatedly had sex with a vulnerable woman has had his jail term cut by Appeal Court judges.

Peter Stockley (54) admitted seven counts of sexual activity with a person with a mental disorder at Chelmsford Crown Court in April and was jailed for eight years. But on Friday that was reduced to six-and-a-half years.

The court heard Stockley, of Tithelands, Harlow, had marriage difficulties when his crimes began. Initially, he only exchanged hugs with the woman but eventually began to engage in sex with her and was reported to police by his wife when she found out.

The couple, married for 31 years, are now in the process of divorce.

Mr Justice David Clarke, sitting with Mr Justice Lloyd Jones, said Stockley's wife was aware of only two occasions when her husband engaged in sexual activity with the woman. But once arrested, he admitted it had happened several other times.

The judge said Stockley's wife had written to urge that he be treated with sympathy and saying he needed help. She also praised him as a husband and father.

Homeless dad's despair as kids sleep on the floor

A HOMELESS father-of-three who returned to his home town of Harlow because he feared for the safety of his children claims he is being denied temporary accommodation by Harlow Council.

Ernie Wright (38), pictured right, and children Corey (4), Katie (6) and Harley (7), have been forced to sleep on the floors of relatives since July when he left his council home in Northampton.

Mr Wright came back to Harlow after his wife left him, he lost his job and found himself having to raise his three young children on his own.

He was put on medication for depression but the final straw came when his home was burgled after yobs threw a paving slab through the front door.

But since moving back to Harlow, Mr Wright has been frustrated in his attempts to find a place to live despite the fact his children have all enrolled at schools in the town.

"We've been moving from floor to floor for months now and I'm at my wit's end," he told the Star. "The council seems unwilling to help us out, even with finding temporary accommodation."

"I wouldn't mind if they put us up in a halfway house; I just want somewhere my kids can have a bed until I can get back to work and sort this mess out."

He contacted MP Bill Rammell about his plight. "I immediately wrote to Harlow Council to urge them to review Mr Wright's housing position as a matter of urgency, due to the stress and trauma the family have suffered," said Mr Rammell. "I will continue to press the council to urgently address Mr Wright's case."

While refusing to discuss individual cases, a council spokesman said: "In cases where an applicant claims to have children living with them we do require proof. If an applicant from another area does anything to jeopardise their tenancy then they are considered to have made themselves intentionally homeless and there is no duty for another council to house them.

"We always make inquiries with previous landlords about prospective tenants. If the circumstances change for any applicant then we would be happy to re-consider their case."

Mugger caught by phone gaffe

A ROBBER who handed his identity to police on a plate by giving his mobile phone as compensation for one he had stolen has been jailed for six months.

Eneas Tanyongana (21), of Risdens, Harlow, was arrested within hours of his offence. Detectives also used CCTV evidence to identify him as the man responsible for two other robberies on trains.

St Albans Crown Court heard on Monday how Tanyongana threatened and robbed one 16-year-old victim on board a train between Ware and Rye House station in March.

He approached his victim and demanded he hand over his mobile phone, threatening to stab him if he refused to do so.

Detective Constable Jon Pine, of British Transport Police's robbery squad, said the teenager was very scared and handed over the phone without argument.

"When he asked what he was supposed to do without a phone, Tanyongana decided to hand over his own phone, complete with contact details and photos," said the officer. "It's a nice boost to the investigation when key pieces of the puzzle have already been laid out for you."

The victim reported the robbery to police and investigators used the information contained in Tanyongana's phone to identify and arrest him.

Mr Pine said: "A police search team recovered the victim's phone from on top of Tanyongana's wardrobe as well as the clothes he wore during the robbery. Using CCTV we were also able to link him to two other offences."

The first was an attempted robbery of a disabled man between Hertford East and Ware stations in May 2007 while the second took place on a train between Broxbourne and Harlow Town in January when Tanyongana attempted to befriend a 13-year-old by engaging him in conversation about his phone.

The victim handed his phone over to Tanyongana to look at but when he asked for it back he was told, "No. You've been robbed."

Mr Pine added: "It was a combination of Tanyongana's own stupidity and good police work that led to him being arrested just hours after the offence."

Tanyongana pleaded guilty to two counts of robbery and one of attempted robbery.

Groups share cash windfall

THOUSANDS of pounds will be ploughed into community projects in Harlow and the surrounding area thanks to a double-whammy of windfall grants.

Both Essex County Council and Lottery-funded Awards For All are set to dish out grants to groups in the Star patch.

Officials at the county council's West Essex Area Forum have agreed to share £75,000 among groups in the area.

Among projects which will benefit are the Kickz project in Harlow, which has been allocated £10,000 for sporting activities to reduce crime and anti-social behaviour, and the town's Café Youth, which will get £1,000 towards games and electronic equipment.

North Weald Parish Council and the Thornwood Village Hall and Playing Field Management Committee receive £3,500 towards a youth shelter on Thornwood Common.

Harlow Town Centre Partnership is also set to receive £3,000 to cover some of the cost of new Christmas decorations, event stages and family entertainment.

Essex county councillor and forum chairman John Roberts said: "It was very hard to choose from all the applications but I am delighted that for the fourth year running we have been able to donate substantial sums to some terrific schemes which are supported by local people and will benefit their communities directly."

Meanwhile, charity Caring For Harlow Carers secured a £2,170 grant from the East Anglia region of the Awards For All scheme while the local branch of Universities Of The Third Age – a self-help organisation for people no longer in full-time employment providing educational, creative and leisure opportunities – gained £1,460.

NHS stalwarts

HOSPITAL workers who have clocked more than 1,550 years of service in the NHS between them have been honoured.

The 62 members of staff at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital have been presented with awards for completing 25 years or more of service.

Alan Farmer, PAH's chief workforce officer, said: "This is the largest batch of long-servers we have ever recognised at the hospital and shows that loyalty to the NHS is a life-long commitment."

"When people enter a career in the service, many of them stick with it for decades. This continuity is a key factor in ensuring that PAH and other health care organisations are able to maintain such high levels of quality service to patients."

Pet store's gifts

A PET store in Harlow has donated £1,200 to local animal welfare charities.

The donation was made by Pets At Home's Charitable Foundation, which works to raise money for a number of national animal charities and local re-homing centres to

Pitching in to help homeless

MORE than £1,200 was raised for Harlow's homeless charity Streets2Homes when amateur golfers teed off in a fundraising drive.

About 50 people from the local area took part in the event at Bishop's Stortford Golf Club which was sponsored by local firms and Streets2Homes patron Robert Halfon.

The money raised will go towards the on-going cost of keeping the Wych Elm charity open.

Manager Patsy Dye thanked volunteer worker Ron Hetem for organising the event and everyone who had sponsored the various golf-themed competitions which ran throughout the day.

"It warms your heart to know that people have come together to help raise money for

Auntynimal-me-uk received £600 and a similar sum went to the Chestnut Cat Sanctuary.

Store manager Jon Foley said: "Our partnerships with these charities are very important to us. It's an unfortunate fact that every year thousands of pets end up homeless. It's our mission to help these pets find a loving home and by working together with Auntynimal-me-uk and Chestnut Cat Sanctuary we're attempting to do just that!"

The Pets At Home Charitable Foundation has donated over £350,000 to rehoming centres and charities nationwide this year alone.

Care home help

A SUPPORT group has been launched to help older people in Essex needing advice about residential care.

The Essex Relatives and Residents Association, which is backed by Essex County Council and other statutory and voluntary groups, is designed to make it easier for people to get helpful advice about care homes.

Chairwoman Barbara Williamson said: "This new volunteer group for Essex understands that being properly informed and supported is the key to making sound choices."

"Our group will also guide people, or their relatives, who do not know where to start finding a care home because they have previously had no contact with social services through the myriad of information available."

For more information about the association, send an email to info@relressex.org or call 0845 017 1095.

LGBT drop-in

DROP-in sessions offering advice to Harlow's lesbian and gay community are to be held in an attempt to end the social isolation felt by some people.

Harlow lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender support network Proud2B will be running the sessions at The Lodge, in Latton Bush Centre, Southern Way, Harlow, from 6.30-9.30pm on Tuesday.

Organisers say the aim is to offer advice and support to the local community as well as providing them with an opportunity to make new friends.

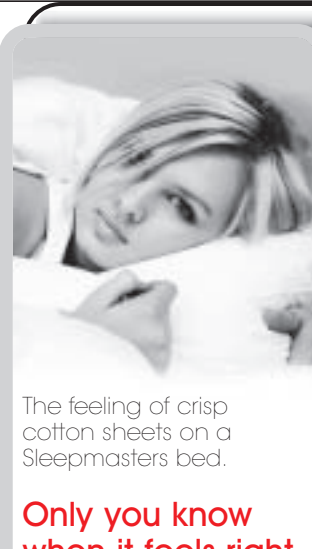

For more information, call (01279) 411330.

Wildlife support

THE Harlow branch of family funeral directors Daniel Robinson And Sons has committed itself to reducing its environmental impact and to protecting wildlife in Essex.

The firm, in Wych Elm, has become a corporate member of the Essex Wildlife Trust branch.

"We believe this is a very important and worthwhile cause, not only for ourselves but also for the community," said a spokesman. "We look forward to working with the Trust in whatever way we can to protect and care for our wildlife heritage."

Victim of poison

SIR, Further to your report 'Rat poison is spread around Harlow fields' (Star, October 16), some three weeks ago in the Nettleswell field area my young and healthy golden retriever suddenly went into a seizure and immediately collapsed.

She was treated by a local veterinary practice and then transferred to a veterinary hospital in Newmarket. Despite all their best efforts, they were unable to save her. Tests showed that she had a high level of toxins in her system commensurate with poisoning of some nature.

I would urge dog owners to be extra vigilant, as from your article it would appear this is becoming a widespread problem covering several fields and areas of park land in the town.

I contacted the environmental health department to find out what council procedures were in regard to pest control and was informed it had a very clear policy covered by legislation that vermin control chemicals are used in such a way as to be inaccessible to any other creature.

How, then, have my pet and these other poor animals been killed? Is it the act of a malicious individual or individuals or has this been caused by the rank stupidity of someone hoping to control vermin in a highly irresponsible manner? If a dog can come in contact with dangerous chemicals freely scattered, then so can a child or adult.

It would also appear, since publication of your article, there have been other cases reported to the RSPCA. So what is Harlow Council doing to investigate this serious problem and does it intend to place warning signs in areas that may be affected?

Andy Wright
Great Brays, Harlow

Losing the plot

SIR, With regard to the fuss over the date of Harlow Council's firework display, I think we need to remind ourselves why the event was introduced in the first place.

In the 1980s, the council was alarmed to learn of the large number of back garden fires that Harlow firefighters had to attend. Even more important was the fact that between 20-25 young children were treated for burns every year at the hospital on November 5.

With the introduction of the municipal display, these statistics fell quite noticeably.

Our new Conservative council has clearly lost the plot. It is obviously much more expensive to have a display on November 5 compared to the November 2, but what price a child being burnt or scared?

We are going back to the days when we were governed by a political party that knows the price of everything and the value of nothing.

Michael Danvers
Tunnmeade, Harlow

Bully report unfair

SIR, I felt compelled to write after reading your article "Racist bully forced son from school" (Star, October 16).

I currently have two children at St Luke's Catholic School and have always been happy with the care and understanding displayed within the school from both children and staff. St Luke's has always welcomed and enjoyed children and their families from a wide variety of races, cultures and religions.

My daughter is in the same class

Don't let them take liberties with our rights

SIR, Children need protection and the best people to do this are their parents and guardians, yet their rights are being eroded.

Last month, after receiving the Fair Processing Notice from my grandson's nursery and having read reliable articles on the internet, I wrote to Essex County Council asking for non-personal information relating to databases holding information on children as young as three.

One article claimed that in 3,500 primary schools across the UK, impressionable children aged five-11 are being fingerprinted, 750,000 have already been processed and 20 schools a week are joining the scheme. In addition, children as young as three are also being targeted and that under the Data Protection Act schools do not have to seek parental consent to take and store children's fingerprints.

I sought assurances from the county council that it will not be adopting biometric data systems (fingerprinting, retina scanning, ID photographs, etc) without parent knowledge and approval. The reply I received stated: "The Authority does not hold information on which schools have, or plan to have, arrangements in place for the collection of biometric data, nor are we required to do so. It is down to individual governing bodies to decide whether or not to implement fingerprinting (or indeed other forms of biometric data)".

The council stated it has provided schools with a guidance to enable them to take an informed decision. This guidance asks if the school is considering introducing biometric technology to support administration of attendance, the school library, canteen or other facilities and gives some information pertaining to the implications of data protection.

On the subject of consent, the guide suggests that it is good practice to seek consent but warns there are potential pitfalls. If parents (or older children) object, they will have to consider alternative arrangements and if a significant number object they might have to abandon the plans. If they do not formally ask for consent, the act of taking a fingerprint or other form of identification in itself requires the willingness of the individual; how will they respond to a child - of whatever age - who refuses to go through the process?

But this is guidance only; no school in Essex (or anywhere else) needs to conform. Most parents know that young children could be told that what they are about to do is either part of a fingerprinting not fingerprinting exercise or a fun thing to do because they just have to press the key the next time and as if by magic their details will appear.

In these scenarios and many others, innocent children would co-operate fully and probably would not communicate what had transpired to their parents or guardians. Older children may feel pressured to comply or forced to if the majority did.

One police fingerprint officer's view was: "I would assume that before printing kids (especially those under the age of criminal responsibility) schools would have to provide a detailed and explicit set of guides, rules and exceptions for what purposes prints are taken, how and where they will be stored, and a policy for their eventual destruction."

I urge all parents and guardians to contact their child's school governing body and obtain assurances in writing that they will not be infringing your child's civil liberties by going down the biometric route.

Patricia Scott
Church End, Harlow

when this alleged sustained campaign of mental and physical abuse was supposed to be taking place and, although she is aware that Isaac and one other boy didn't get along, she never witnessed any racial taunts.

It is unfair to publish such a one-sided story. Perhaps it would have been wiser to visit St Luke's and see for yourself the totally unbiased ethos it has towards all children, regardless of their race and what a happy atmosphere the school has.

Jane Bahar
Collins Meadow, Harlow

EDITOR'S NOTE. The Star contacted the school directly on two occasions and was informed the headteacher would respond only via a statement issued through a third party, which neither confirmed nor denied any incidents of racist bullying. It subsequently refused to discuss any allegations.

By-election needed

SIR, Like many other residents of Staple Tye, I was shocked and concerned to read your report "Tory faces sex abuse charges" (Star, October 16).

Whatever happens over the next few months, Mr Kirtton is obviously not in a position to represent his constituents or carry out the duties for which he was elected less than six months ago.

Surely it would be best for all concerned if he resigned immediately and allowed a by-election to be fought.

John Strachan
The Briars, Harlow

Search for brothers

SIR, I am trying to trace Howard and Ray Edwards, probably born in London and believed to have moved to Harlow many years ago.

These gentlemen would be in their late 80s or early 90s now. Their parents lived at Greenwich in south-east London for some time.

Apparently, Howard was a Sunday school teacher and was said to resemble the actor Victor Mature. Ray was younger than Howard.

I would be very grateful to hear from Howard or Ray or any family or friends who know them and would be very happy to share Edwards family history information that I have accumulated.

Sharon Waterworth
Eastwood, Leigh-on-Sea

Westminster woe

SIR, In the not too distant past, the Star published a regular, illuminating and very entertaining column entitled View From Westminster that gave our MP the opportunity to do just what it said - convey to us his constituents his views on such diverse topics as the Dome and weapons of mass destruction.

Last year, all MPs were given a £10,000 annual grant to communicate more effectively with their constituents. Now that our MP is trying to reinvent himself as a dedicated constituency MP rather than a yes-man for New Labour, would it be possible to reintroduce this column?

For those of us that live in the real world back in Harlow, the view is nothing but doom and gloom. Some £400bn of our money has been poured into the financial system to bail out fat cat financiers. Liberal Democrat deputy leader Vince Cable warned of the coming of the financial crash a couple of years ago but it fell on deaf ears.

In his last Mansion House speech, the Prime Minister, then Chancellor of the Exchequer, told these self-same financiers that they were "a great example of a highly skilled, talent-driven industry" and said Britain needed more of the vigour, ingenuity and aspiration that was the hallmark of their success.

What is Mr Rammell's view from Westminster of this speech now that Gordon Brown is relying on the "nothing to do with me, gov" defence for the collapse of his lightly regulated UK financial system?

I remember when Gordon Brown was heading unelected for the post of leader of Labour and Prime Minister that in this very paper Mr Rammell stated Brown was the best man for the job. If, on reflection, he has no further view on this endorsement, perhaps he could let us have his thoughts on the present UK recession, the forecast of two million unemployed by Christmas with more to come and house prices falling by 14 per cent this year and forecast to fall a further 10 per cent next year. Or do I hear "not me, gov" echoing around the corridors of power?

David Pugh
Copsie Hill, Harlow

Thanks for caring

SIR, May I, through the columns of the Star, take the opportunity to thank the firefighter and, I believe, the manager of First Bowl after I had a nasty fall on September 14 for the competent and caring way they helped me.

It is refreshing in present times to know such there are people willing to give help when needed.

How puppy love beat army rules

A PUPPY rescued in Iraq has been allowed to return to America with the soldier who saved its life.

The US Army does not usually let its troops adopt pets while on duty, for health and safety reasons, but they relaxed the rules for playful pooch Ratchet, pictured right, after thousands of people signed an online petition. Army officer Gwen Beberg, from Minneapolis, had rescued the neglected black pup from a burning pile of rubbish in May with the help of another soldier. She then became so attached to the loveable mutt she secretly continued to take care of him, even though the army bans soldiers from having pets while they are serving in Iraq.

Gwen was so desperate to adopt Ratchet, she pleaded with military officials to change their minds. At first they refused, but after an online petition to let the puppy go home with her was signed by an incredible 65,000 supporters, they eventually agreed.

Last weekend, animal rescue group Operation Baghdad Pups flew into the war-torn Iraqi capital and picked up the lucky dog.

He will be flown back to America where Miss Beberg's mother will care for him until her daughter returns from the Middle East next month.

Lowering the Tones in Harlow

WANNABE rock stars have the chance to snare a gig bag to celebrate the move of a Harlow music store.

After running successfully upstairs in The Rows, Market Square, for five years, Tones has now moved downstairs.

And as part of the relaunch, one lucky customer will be walking away with a guitar, amp and other musical paraphernalia if they successful win a prize draw to be held in November.

The official opening day will be November 1 and during the first two weeks every customer who spends £5 will be given a raffle ticket.

The winner will be announced shortly after the Christmas lights have been turned on November 16.

Praise for high-flying success story

ONE of Harlow's longest-running firms is bucking the gloomy national economic trend by continuing to flourish.

Smith's Aerospace, in Pinnacles, has been serving the aero-engine and airframe sectors since 1948, making parts for everything from wind turbines to landing gears.

And it received high praise on Thursday when Harlow Council chairman Tony Hall toured the Barrows Road factory with managing director John Tennison.

"Smith's is surely one of Harlow's hidden success stories," he said. "Parts engineered in this company literally fly all over the world.

"In addition to this, the company should be congratulated for consistently offering opportunities for young people by taking on apprentices on an annual basis."

Woman told cop: 'Rape me'

A POLICE officer who approached a bloodstained woman in a Harlow street just after 5am in the morning was told: "Go on, *ing rape me," a court has been told.

At the time, Sharon Fotheringham (35), of Bishopsfield, Harlow, was holding a broken bottle neck and threatening to cut herself.

However, Chelmsford Crown Court was told the officer managed to quieten her down and she was then put in handcuffs and leg restraints.

Fotheringham pleaded guilty to using threatening and abusive words and having an offensive weapon at the hearing on Thursday. She was placed under a two year supervision order with mental health treatment.

Passing sentence, Judge Anthony

Goldstaub told her: "You have to appreciate behaviour of this kind just isn't acceptable. There comes a point, I'm afraid, when there is no course a court can take other than send you to prison. But we haven't got there yet."

The judge said that family problems meant Fotheringham had lived in foster homes as a child and later lived rough. He said she had committed offences of public disturbance and mayhem while drinking four or five bottles of vodka a week. He added: "You must conquer your alcohol addiction."

Mark Latham, prosecuting, told the court that on August 1 an officer went to Abercrombie Way, Harlow, at 5.10am following a phone call to police.

He found Fotheringham on a grassed area shouting and swearing. She was unsteady on her feet and smelt of alcohol, and when the officer got to within a metre of her he noticed she was holding the neck of a broken bottle in her hand.

She started to shout abuse at him and, already bloodstained, began "slashing at herself, at her own neck".

As a result the officer drew a defensive spray and gave three short blasts in her face.

She had initially struggled, kicking out, abusing the officer and also saying: "Go on, *ing rape me."

After being restrained and calming down, she was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where she then became aggressive once more. She was again restrained and staff found cuts on her arms and neck.

The court heard that the day before she had been drinking heavily, been refused entry to a club in Harlow and had continued drinking at a friend's house before the incident.

PAH has country's lowest C-Diff rate

PRINCESS Alexandra Hospital in Harlow has the lowest infection rate for a killer bug in the country.

The trust responsible for PAH has reported 20 cases of C-Difficile since April, compared to 138 in the same period last year.

The significant improvement in healthcare-associated infection during the past nine months has been attributed to a number of cleanliness initiatives.

These include vigorous hand hygiene audits, a management-driven root cause analysis of specific cases of hospital-acquired infection, plus the availability of 'body maps' for individual patients which provide more detail about sites where drips or other lines have been administered and when, making clinical staff aware of when they need to be removed to limit infection.

Chief executive Chris Pocklington said: "This is a great achievement for us and our work to combat infection is being recognised. It will always be difficult to reduce numbers to the low number seen in specialist hospitals that have the lowest C-Diff rates because they do not cover the number of clinical specialties that we do.

"However, we can be confident that we are ahead in relation to other district general hospitals."

The introduction of new modern matrons and the work of a dedicated infection-control team have continued to raise the awareness and educate people about combating infections.

Clostridium Difficile is a bacterium naturally present in the gut of about three per cent of adults. However, some antibiotics can interfere with the balance of good bacteria and cause symptoms such as diarrhoea and vomiting.

To reduce the number of people who are vulnerable to the infection, strict guidance has been issued throughout the trust which advises doctors to prescribe antibiotics cautiously.

Snowfall is a flurry of disruption

recovery trucks to remove the wreckage. Initially it was thought a woman driver was trapped in one of the cars but despite the apparent severity of the collision nobody was seriously injured. The woman was taken to hospital with a wrist injury while the other three were said to have been uninjured. Harlow fire station officer Russell Cottis, who attended the scene, said the conditions were treacherous. "It could have been a lot worse given the state of the cars," he said. Police said the driver of the Porsche, a 43-year-old man, had been arrested on suspicion of drink driving and bailed until December 22 pending further inquiries.

Essex County Council confirmed gritting trucks had been deployed on routes across the county to salt roads.

Another casualty of the heavy snowfall was Harlow Town FC's Essex Senior Cup clash against Billericay Town. The third round match at Barrows Farm was called off 10 minutes into the second half after the referee consulted his assistants and both team managers.

It was the first time since December 1990 a home game has been abandoned due to adverse weather conditions. A club spokesman said: "The snow was persistent and the referee consulted with both managers and took the decision to call off the game after 55 minutes."

A replay is scheduled for November 11 but it is not yet known if Hawks' fans who attended the abandoned game will have the cost of tickets reimbursed.

Yesterday (Wednesday) EDF Energy Networks apologised after bad weather affected high voltage cables and disrupted power to several thousand customers in parts of the East of England including Essex and Hertfordshire.

Power was restored to the first customers soon after supplies went off at about 7.30pm on Tuesday and engineers worked through yesterday to restore power to the remaining homes.

Weathermen predict the highly unusual weather will ease over the weekend.

Public view of probation

LAW-abiding members of the public were given a taste of what life would be like on probation when a county-wide tour highlighting the work of the service kicked off in Harlow.

Visitors to Essex Probation Service's town centre base were put through their paces in a series of role-plays in which they learned about the many ways the service helps rehabilitate offenders and supports victims of crime.

Saturday's event saw guests get to grips with an anger management session and sit in on a mock boardroom meeting between heads of the Multi-Agency Public Protection Authority during which they were given the opportunity to have their say on what should be done to rehabilitate and keep track of the county's most serious criminals.

A spokeswoman from the EPS said: "Some people may have the view that community orders are a soft option but we are effective in dealing with the causes of crime."

Planners start work on regional review

WORK has started on a 10-year extension to a controversial planning blueprint which will be used to shape development in the East of England over the next two decades.

The East of England Regional Assembly is overseeing the review of the East of England Plan, which sets out policy until 2021, to decide what further development should take place across the region in the following 10 years up to 2031.

As the Star reported last month, the assembly intends to consult councils, developers

By CHRIS MOSS

moss@hertsexnews.co.uk

and landowners and will also commission a series of expert studies on issues including housing, transport, waste and flood risk.

A public consultation document will then be published in the spring of next year and the assembly expects the whole process to be completed by in 2011.

Derrick Ashley, chairman of EERA's regional planning panel, said: "Despite the current economic downturn we must start planning for people's future needs as a million more people will live in the East of England by 2031.

"The review will ask important questions about where new jobs will be created and how we can protect and improve the local environment."

"It will also look at long-term housing needs, an important issue for many people across the region struggling to find affordable housing."

However, the news has angered pressure group STOP Harlow North which said there was "no firm foundation" for the review.

Secretary Nigel Clark said: "We remain concerned about the speed of the review, the call for developers to bring forward proposals with no input from local communities and the lack of a coherent national framework to underpin it."

"It is unlikely that the Government will be able to afford the infrastructure to support any of their house building plans in the current economic climate."

Cops' CCTV clue to suspects in rail shop theft

CCTV images of a couple suspected of being involved in the theft of almost £3,000 from a newsagent at Harlow Town station have been released by transport police.

The man and woman, both described as being in their mid 20s, entered Trainstop News at around 3pm on Thursday, September 4.

It is claimed that while the woman distracted a member of staff who was restocking a fridge at the rear of the premises, her accomplice went into a room behind the counter.

Moments later the assistant saw the man leave the room and confronted him. He told her he was looking for the toilet at which point the couple then left the shop. It then came to light that £2,700 was missing.

PC Alan Judd said: "We believe the people in the picture could help us with our inquiries."

Anyone with information should call BTP on 0800 405040 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

INTERIORS WITH FISHPOOLS

A WORLD OF FURNISHING IDEAS

We've fallen back in love with dining - finding the space and time to eat at the table. Eating glued to the TV with trays on laps is no longer de rigueur and here at Fishpools we're celebrating this new found excitement for sharing mealtimes.

Rediscover stylish dining...

Dining is a time for socialising and being together - whether it's a grand dinner party, Sunday lunch or a simple teatime chat with the kids.

A kitchen table is often the hub of activity in any home, creating a natural meeting point for all members of the family throughout the day, while separate dining rooms create a more formal and intimate dining experience.

Choices of dining furniture may often be swayed by practicality but, whatever the intended use or position of your dining furniture, compromising on style is never an option when choosing from the Fishpools' dining range - whatever your tastes.

For those of us with aspirations to uncluttered, modern living, the Genoa dining range, with extendable glass table top, white leather upholstery and sleek looping chrome legs, is the height of sharp, minimal styling.

Loft is a classic dining table which would happily adorn either a large farmhouse kitchen or a slick apartment. Rustic oak with contemporary styling makes this a strong design choice for the more informal household. Team it up with Churchill crockery for a simply chic look.

For simple grandeur, the Madison is a strong design choice, which would work well in both a traditional or modern home. The warm wood and lustrous sheen makes this a glamorous and luxurious statement in dining style.

Interiors fashion is currently embracing gothic styling and the Monastery dining range keeps you up to date with this timeless design.

For classic opulence, the Serafina range is Italian inspired dining for the home that exudes femininity. This dining suite will truly define the romantic dining experience.

Not content in just offering you the ultimate collection in dining style, Fishpools accessories have been carefully chosen to give your home and dining space that extra touch of class. Accessorise to your heart's content with Swarovski and Waterford crystal for that added sparkle and Lladro ceramics to decorate the more traditional table.

Whatever your style, the perfect dining experience is never far away - at Fishpools.

For more information please visit www.fishpools.co.uk or call 01992 63 64 65.

FILM Kevin Macdonald's powerful drama documentary Touching The Void will be screened at The Playhouse on Tuesday. Documenting the incredible story of a disastrous climb on the treacherous Siula Grande summit in the Peruvian Andes undertaken by experienced climbers Simon Yates and Joe Simpson, the gripping film recreates Simpson's agonising struggle for survival after he falls into a crevasse. Shown at 11am, 2pm and 7.45pm, tickets are £5 (£4 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

TALK Following Tuesday's screening of Touching The Void, successful mountaineer Simon Yates brings his entertaining and inspiring talk, Beyond The Void, to The Playhouse on Wednesday. Perhaps best known as 'the man who cut the rope' holding Joe Simpson during the duo's treacherous descent of Peru's Siula Grande in 1985, Simon's dry wit, philosophical outlook and stunning images will transport the audience to some of the highest and most dangerous peaks in the world. The talk begins at 7.30pm and tickets are £12 (£10 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

MUSIC The world-renowned Alberni Quartet make a welcome return to their home town of Harlow on Saturday with an Autumn Recital at St John's Arts and Recreation Centre. The programme will include works by Mozart, Beethoven and Schubert, with string sextets by Strauss and Schonberg. Tickets will be available on the door for £12 (£10 concessions) and the concert begins at 8pm.

MUSIC Desperados tired of Life In The Fast Lane can sit back and relax to the countrified folk rock of Talon - Britain's best Eagles tribute band - as they Take It To The Limit at The Playhouse on Sunday. Featuring all your favourites from the past 35 years, the show will even include covers from Henley and co's long-awaited new album, Long Road Out Of Eden. The show starts at 7.30pm and tickets are £16 (£14 concessions) from (01279) 431945.

Creative week masks a break with tradition

AN amateur dramatics group is breaking with tradition to start its new season with a look Behind The Mask.

Instead of staging a drama in November, Moot House Players will run a week-long programme of hands-on theatre at Moot Hall, in The Stow, starting on Sunday with mask and puppet construction.

The weekend workshop will run from 2-6pm under the watchful eye of the Players' leading set designers, Paul Regeli and Bett Hewlett.

Participants will have the opportunity to develop their skills at additional classes in the week, starting on Monday with Movement With Masks - an opportunity to learn how to apply performance to their creations. The workshop is open to anyone over 16 and costs £12 (concessions £9). On Tuesday, movement and dance specialists Henrietta and

By

Michael Branwell will offer a fresh perspective on working with masks in a class designed for adult participants. This session begins at 8pm and is £6 (concessions £4).

The fun continues until the weekend with a class on spatial awareness during performance on Friday at 8pm, costing £5 (£3 conc), and an evening of readings, skits and sketches on Saturday, costing £3 for non-members.

Chairman Geoff Leeds said: "This is an unrivalled opportunity to share and learn and to gain ideas for performance and production."

"Performing skills are not essential. A willingness to have a good night out is!"

Good time for all

THERE was no stopping the irrepressible and talented young cast in Brenda Taylor's latest extravaganza.

Whether recreating the charm of Beatrix Potter's tales or dancing to a techno beat, entertainment and professionalism were the bywords for a truly entertaining evening.

Past students, now graduated and working in the profession, also contributed with great choreographic numbers from Odette Perdrisat and Michael Kent, while Catherine Coulson added to the charm of the opening ballet with her performance as Beatrix Potter. The evening was full of variety, from the high energy Don't Stop Me! to Paint It Black, with its evocative First World War photo projections and dramatic finish. On the way, there was the brilliant Madness, Good Ship Lollipop with a parade of Shirley Temple look-alikes (the youngest dancers in the show winning the hearts and loudest cheers of the evening) and the flamboyant Don't Stop Me Now, with dancers running, tapping and tumbling across the stage.

A secretarial revolt was held just in-check by the hot-under-the-collar boss in 9 To 5, Spirit of Ireland added ever-popular Irish dance to the programme and the confident voices of Alyssa Kent and Emma Martin captured perfectly the essence of their solo numbers.

It was not surprising from a school that prides itself in both singing and dancing that musicals featured prominently; the childlike wonder and innocence of Whistle Down The Wind, the effective simplicity of Memory and a stylish visit to Fat Sam's. Hairspray provided a great set-piece showstopper that lifted the tempo and the simmering sexiness of All That Jazz provided a high octave, foot-tappingly great finale.

This was an all-singing, all-dancing celebration that showed young performers at their very best and gave the audience a truly great time.

Action is a small solace for hardened 007 fans

QUANTUM OF SOLACE

certificate 12A, running time 1h46m

AGENT 007 returns, all guns blazing, in the action-packed follow-up to Casino Royale, set in the immediate aftermath of the blockbusting 2006 film.

Quantum Of Solace opens with a spectacular car chase through the historic streets of Siena, Italy, culminating in a pursuit over the rooftops which recalls the breathtaking Morocco sequence from The Bourne Ultimatum.

It's no surprise that many of the behind-the-scenes crew have close ties to the Bourne franchise – at times, the similarities become more of an imitation and, unfortunately for Bond, his American counterpart does it far better.

Director Marc Forster ensures the pace doesn't slacken for the opening hour, including a fist-fight on a series of ropes and pulleys, a high-speed boat chase and an aerial dogfight.

Once audiences finally catch their breath, the ramshackle plot unfurls with no sense of urgency and all of the adrenaline pumping through the film's veins dissipates, building to a deeply disappointing final showdown in Chile.

Quantum Of Solace is the first Bond movie in which the principal lovely doesn't disrobe and succumb to James' charms; amusingly, there's more sexual tension between M and her headstrong protégé.

Following the death of Vesper Lynd, Bond (Craig) joins M (Dench) to interrogate Mr White (Christensen), part of a secret organisation responsible for his beloved's demise.

The trail leads to beautiful Haiti, where Bond meets the enigmatic yet alluring Camille (Kurylenko), a woman pursuing a secret vendetta against ruthless businessman Dominic Greene (Amalric) and his associate, exiled General Medrano (Cosio).

Greene and his allies plan to sweep Medrano back into power, overthrowing an entire Latin American regime, in exchange for a seemingly worthless piece of desert.

As the vengeful British agent edges closer to discovering the identities of the men responsible for Vesper's death, he takes justice into his own bloody hands, clashing with old friends Felix Leiter (Wright) and field agent Mathis (Giannini).

Quantum Of Solace pales next to its predecessor, lacking a compelling lead villain or coherent storyline while Craig's performance is even colder and more aloof here.

Fans of the series will thrill to the action scenes, but the 21st century 007 is in danger of severing all ties to his glorious past, losing the gadgets, double entendres and the charm – indeed, everything that made us fall in love with Bond back in 1962.

HIGH SCHOOL MUSICAL 3: SENIOR YEAR

certificate U, running time 1h51m

THE ultra-perky Disney Channel phenomenon comes to the big screen for the first time.

Boysishly cute leading man Zac Efron is blatantly the star attraction of this feelgood fantasy and director Kenny Ortega opens with a lingering close-up of the 21-year-old shaking his sleek, sweat-drenched locks before launching into one of the high-energy song and dance numbers which have become the series' trademark.

When Efron belts out his solo piece Scream, girls in the audiences oblige at ear-splitting volume.

Ortega, who doubles as choreographer, pulls out all the stops to make the most of the widescreen format, delivering dazzling set-pieces which reach a crescendo in Riley's Salvage Yard, where Troy (Efron) and best buddy Chad (Corbin Bleu) duet on The Boys Are Back over a moving assault course of tyres and scrap-metal cars.

Screenwriter Peter Barsocchini glues these colour-saturated spectacles together with minimum plot and character development, essentially replaying romances and rivalries from earlier instalments in the series.

The dialogue is loaded with so much schmaltz, you'll probably require urgent dental attention by the rip-roaring finale.

The movie bids a tearful farewell to most of the actors who have made the series a toe-tapping success, uniting Troy, Chad and chums for one final performance under the direction of ebullient drama teacher Ms Darbus.

High School Musical 3: Senior Year continues to peddle a rose-tinted view of adolescence – the only drug you'll see is caffeine and the furthest these lusty, hormone-addled teens stray is holding hands in the moonlight.

REGULAR readers may remember our feature on cloud-hopping songsmith Jon Clarke a year ago. When Jon popped in to the Star to give us his new demo and an update on attempts to stargaze his way into the hit parade, we thought we'd give you a timely reminder of the man's undoubted talents. Because with the untitled promo of his new four-track EP now safely filed away to sell on eBay when he hits the big time, we can safely report that Harlow's answer to a younger, wiser Sir Richard Ashcroft has gone from strength to strength. Opener Free Myself is a doleful, rumbling beast of a tune that channels the spirit of Britpop through a ketamine-fuelled dream, while stand-out track A Man With No Name is all woozy, lilting psychedelia with an ethereal, almost whispered vocal wrapped in hypnotic melody. It's clear that Jon has been a very busy boy indeed. "I've not stopped," the suitably exhausted-looking one-man-band tells us. "I'm independently distributing my new promo demo to publishing companies throughout the UK. "Put it this way – it's being listened to by people in suits, of some importance to the music industry." But does all this extracurricular commercial chicanery mean Jon won't be treating fans to any of his famously intimate live performances in the near future? "Playing live is out of the equation for the time being," he replies. "I'm trying to establish myself as a songwriter. Credits in album sleeves, that kind of thing – know what I mean?" On the strength of your latest material, we certainly do, Jon.

SAW V Diabolical killer Jigsaw (Tobin Bell, above) concludes his blood-thirsty reign of terror – from beyond the grave – in the final instalment of the horror franchise, full of more devilish booby traps and gruesome deaths worthy of an 18 certificate. As with the previous editions, nothing is quite what it seems and somebody has a final ace up their sleeve to ensure Saw V ends with an almighty bang.

IGOR John Cusack's loveable hunchback has ambitions to step out from the shadow of his evil mad master (John Cleese) and become a scientist in his own right, much to the displeasure of the science community in this average animated comedy.

EAGLE EYE Shia LaBeouf stars in director DJ Caruso's ludicrously overblown romp about two strangers drawn into a web of murder and deceit by an unseen puppet master (voiced by Julianne Moore) who ultimately wants them to commit mass murder. The would-be assassins find themselves on the run from the cops and FBI as Eagle Eye barely pauses for breath between each slam-bang action sequence.

After the agonising tension and brutality of their Oscar-winning opus No Country For Old Men, writer-directors Joel and Ethan Coen return to comedic territory with this pithy tale of espionage and infidelity. While not classic Coen brothers fare, Brad Pitt keeps us smirking as the dim-witted gym employee who, with co-worker Frances McDormand, tries to blackmail a former CIA agent (John Malkovich) to fund her plastic surgery needs. Also features George Clooney and Tilda Swinton.

Heavy metal heroics strike gold

IRON MAN

(Paramount, 12, retail & rental)

AFTER years of licensing their comic book characters for other companies to turn into largely indifferent or poor flicks, Marvel has finally struck paydirt by going into the movie business for itself.

The first results – this and Louis Leterrier's The Incredible Hulk – stand as two of the finest superhero movies yet made and promise great things for forthcoming Marvel Studios projects featuring Thor, Ant-Man, Luke Cage, Doctor Strange, X-Men villain Magneto, Captain America and The Avengers.

Jon Favreau gets the tone just right, directing Iron Man with a sly ironic wit and a flair for mounting dazzling action sequences, his bold visuals perfectly complementing a superb performance by Robert Downey Jr as cynical arms manufacturer Tony Stark.

Captured in the Middle East by terrorists, Stark is locked in a Tora Bora-like cave complex and put to work making a super weapon – but, cannibalising whatever parts are to hand, he instead devises an armoured suit in which he bludgeons his way free.

Back home in America, he announces an ethical repositioning of Stark Industries and sets to work secretly perfecting his crude prototype into a lean, mean jet-propelled fighting suit.

His late father's partner Obadiah Stane (Jeff Bridges, hamming it gloriously) is less than pleased at a move away from the commerce of carnage and decides to tackle the burgeoning superhero Stark with his own clanging creation of heavy metal.

Downey Jr seems born to the role, a bon vivant egotist peddling a great line in wry self-deprecation and every bit at home with the exhilarating combat. For the first homegrown movie out of the Marvel stable, Favreau sets the bar high for his successors.

THIS SPORTING LIFE

(Network, 12, retail)

Made in 1963, Lindsay Anderson's classic drama is a key film of the gritty British new wave (and one of the last entries in it) as well as an early chance for Richard Harris to show just what he could do.

Despite sharing much of the naturalism which defined the likes of Saturday Night And Sunday Morning and Up The Junction, This Sporting Life is a different kind of animal in many ways, a far bleaker proposition which employs symbolism as much as realism in its tale of violent sport, beer and broken lives.

Despite its grim Northern locale, Anderson's film is less concerned about the class war (although it remains an issue) than with people's failure to communicate, and in Harris' character of Frank Machin he has an exceptional non-communicator to study – a brawling, burly miner who lives for violent confrontation on the pitch where he's king (coaxed and coached by William Hartnell's sinister 'Dad' Johnson), even though he can't begin to articulate his gentler emotions to his middle-aged, widowed landlady (Rachel Roberts).

Digitally restored and presented in its proper ratio, the film is accompanied by a booklet, promotional materials and script PDFs, a gallery and trailer.

STRIP NUDE FOR YOUR KILLER

(Shameless Screen Entertainment, 18, retail)

The death of a young fashion model during an abortion which her dodgy doctor contrives to conceal is the catalyst for a series of brutal assassinations by a leather-clad biker in this over-excited, sleazy and enjoyable 1975 Italian thriller.

As events (and insides) unravel, it soon becomes clear that just about everybody at the Albatross modelling agency is a potential victim or killer, from haughty predatory bisexual Gisella who runs the place to groovy snapper-turned-amateur sleuth Carlo and his colleague/lover Magda.

As the plot twists itself into pretzels, director Andrea Bianchi piles on the lurid ambience with a welter of well-paced murders, gratuitous nudity and some pleasingly stylish flourishes (such as the running taps and flashback to the opening death which herald another looming splash of crimson) while Berto Pisano's score bumps and grinds along like a pastiche porn soundtrack.

Solid exploitation fun, although it could have done with being a little less concerned with plot mechanics and characterisation in favour of cutting loose with some of its more lunatic tendencies.

LOU REED'S BERLIN

(Artificial Eye, 12, retail)

After the commercial failure of his 1973 album Berlin – a concept album of dejection, jealousy, drug abuse and loss set in the divided city of the same name –

Lou Reed decided never to perform it live.

Fortunately for his fans, he changed his mind and in 2006 played it for five nights at St Ann's Warehouse, in Brooklyn.

Director Julian (Basquiat, Before Night Falls) Schnabel was on hand to record it but, with no disrespect to his camera eye, the power of this live concert film derives from the rich musical material itself and the hermetic intimacy of the venue.

He shoots it straight and with admirable restraint, while Reed's band is tight as a tambourine skin and deliver unfussy takes of the songs' unpredictable rhythms and prog tendencies.

Star rating: ★★★

DANGERVERSION

(Network, 15, retail)

Somewhere between The Young Ones and Filthy, Rich & Catflap, Rik Mayall and Adrian Edmonson unleashed the archetypes of the comic personas that would eventually lead to the gloriously puerile mayhem of Bottom.

Starting out on Saturday Live, the duo appeared as siblings Sir Adrian and Richard Dangerous, a manic sub-Vaudeville act hinged around the performance of appallingly dangerous, badly executed stunts.

Most of the time, this results in the pair bickering and trading blows while Sir Adrian variously leaps off buildings, sets himself alight, detonates dynamite in his underpants, is hurled through acres of sugar glass and sort of fired from a cannon.

Brought to DVD from a domestic video recording since the original masters went astray, this disc also features the banned Kinky Sex sketch; 75 minutes of it all in one go can be a bit much, but in smaller doses it's demerited if undemanding fun, all in the worst possible taste.

THE comedy night is now a permanent fixture in The Square's programme and Sunday's line-up has all the signs of being the best yet.

John Mann comperes with guests Sol Bernstein, pictured left, Dave Wood and Kevin Precious. An old feature revived last month is the open spot, giving any budding comedian the chance to sign up and have a go.

Doors open at 8pm and admission is £5.

Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community.

The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live.

Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it¹.

No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

Aries Mar 21-Apr 20
Libra Sept 24-Oct 23

Aries You're the zodiac's buccaneer. This can make you dashing, but sometimes rash. Yet getting closer in touch with your instincts can become something of a clarion call now, as the Sun moves into the perceptive zone of your chart. Don't soon any hunches you have, listen to them. Something substantial can shape up from this - something that can last. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Libra Finances can be rejuvenated and even if you have had to take on a new realism around your expenditure in recent times, you can increasingly gain your satisfaction less from possessions and more from exploring intangible qualities. However, it's a rare Libra that does not appreciate creature comforts, so there can be some treats along the way. Call me now for your financial forecast...

Taurus Apr 21-May 21
Scorpio Oct 24-Nov 22

Taurus Put the feelers out. The more insights you can gain, the better. These can help you to understand how others are thinking, where a market is heading or whether someone is interested in you from a romantic perspective! In fact, relating well with others can see you connecting better. This improvement in communication can be sweet, and increase harmony. Call me now for more...

Scorpio Are you in a bit of a rut? You may not appreciate the thought, but if there is a hint of truth in this, this would be a marvellous time to start afresh, and do you know, it really doesn't matter in which area of life you apply this to. And your imaginative way of looking at things can bring you unexpected bonuses. The surprising these are, the better! Call me for more astral advice...

Gemini May 22-Jun 21
Sagittarius Nov 23-Dec 21

Gemini Does your love of variety sometimes see you as a jack of all trades and a master of none Gemini? If so, this is an excellent juncture to decide on what you do best and to focus intently on it. If you bring order to any department of your life, you won't regret it and it can see you extract more end results from your unquestionable talents. Over to you! Call your special prediction line for more advice...

Sagittarius Venus is adding to your self-confidence - even if you have a nagging feeling that someone may be withholding from you, perhaps because they're envious. Yet if you do have areas of life where you're less than assured, don't dismiss them out of hand, as you sometimes have a tendency to do. Instead confront them in the way you often urge others to do. Call for more news and advice...

Cancer Jun 22-Jul 23
Capricorn Dec 22-Jan 20

Cancer You've become more conscious of choosing your words carefully. Or, if you've yet to grasp this particular nettle, this can be the week to do so. Thoughtful communication can take you far. Equally, there can be some lighter moments, a time when you can illuminate any occasion with the most dazzling side of your being. You're on form and all will know! Call now for more astral advice...

Capricorn Your ruling planet is the often maligned Saturn. Yet without its sensible tones, very little of this persistence would be achieved. True, it can be harsh, but it drives us to be disciplined. And so it is this week. It's asking you to balance the go-getting energies of Mars and Jupiter with a sense of responsibility. Don't be rash, but you can be hopeful Capricorn. Call for your in-depth forecast...

Leo Jul 24-Aug 23
Aquarius Jan 21-Feb 19

Leo It's not how much you have but how much you appreciate it. It's not how big your house is, but the atmosphere within it. And it's not how many friends you have but the quality of your inner circle. Think in terms of these themes this week because your peace of mind will come from knowing, what and who is of true value. Security and serenity can follow. Call me now for more news and advice...

Aquarius You can have an ambivalent attitude to authority figures, yet ironically you often make a skilled boss yourself because of your knowledge of human nature and democratic approach. These qualities can stand you in good stead now when someone can ask you to take on a more responsible role. Your networking skills can also see you charm opposition. Call your special prediction line for more...

Virgo Aug 24-Sept 23
Pisces Feb 20-Mar 20

Virgo You can find yourself becoming more curious. If you have had a particular fondness for an overseas location, it's possible that you'll explore new options for next year's vacation. If you've never been skiing, this winter can find you open to try. Then again, you can find yourself enjoying history, be it uncovering things in your locality or your family background. Call me now for more astral advice...

Pisces You can find yourself becoming more curious. If you have had a particular fondness for an overseas location, it's possible that you'll explore new options for next year's vacation. Get your brand closer to people's lives

No other medium is as close to people's hearts as Regional Press. Consumers consider it an integral part of their community. The effectiveness of regional press advertising in driving sales comes down to the simple fact that people prefer to do most of their spending close to where they live. Consumers' Choice V, a national consumer survey by TNS Media, found that regional press advertising is the most frequently acted upon, with 61% of people responding to it¹. No wonder brands enjoy a closer relationship with consumers when advertised in this, the most trusted and effective medium of all.

Hawks have Magic touch

Hatfield Magic 46, Harlow Hawks 98 (Herts Basketball County Cup, group game)

THE Hawks overcame a very poor start to rack up a comprehensive victory in their first group stage game of the Herts County Cup. Harlow finally got on the scoreboard via a Shab Niaz three-pointer in Monday's match, and then started to get their running game going.

A couple more three-pointers from excellent ball movement gave the visitors a lead that they would retain for the rest of the game.

Hawks finished the quarter strongly with a combination of good defence and offence, as Russ Allan got on the end of a fast break for a 20-13 lead at the end of the first quarter.

Apart from a jump shot from Stuart Burgess, Harlow only really dominated at the end of the second quarter when they went on a 17-2 run to take a 39-18 half-time lead.

The Hawks improved their defence in the third quarter as Hatfield were left scoreless for six minutes, while Mike Freeman and Nick Moss scored freely at the other end.

Magic responded with an 11-1 run before Hawks finished the quarter with a three-pointer from Amit Sharma to go 69-29 up.

Back-to-back three-pointers from Niaz and Paul Jessop got Harlow off to a great start in the fourth quarter.

Hawks' ball movement was excellent as they managed to find Jessop, Allan and Lee Collier under the basket for a number of scores, to finish 52 points clear.

HARLOW HAWKS: Niaz (36pts), Jessop (15), Freeman (14), Haddow (11), Moss (6), Allan (5), Collier (4), Sharma (3), Burgess (2) Jones (2).

● HARLOW were awarded a 20-0 walkover in their National Founders Cup group game against Ware Jokers. Ware had not registered their players in time so the match was played as a friendly which Hawks won 58-57.

Peter's royal engagement

PETER Cousins is not normally a shrinking violet but the Great Britain judo star was a bag of nerves before he met the Queen.

The 27-year-old, from Harlow, went to Buckingham Palace along with fellow GB Olympians for a celebration party.

Cousins, the silver medallist at the World Judo Championships a year ago, was among the Team GB contingent at the Beijing Olympics in August.

He said: "Even if you are not a supporter of the monarchy, she is a world famous celebrity and I was so nervous."

"She came over to a group of us. She chatted to two of us and luckily one was me. She was lovely, a nice old nan. I was having palpitations, it was so nerve-racking."

He added: "Princess Anne and Camilla

[Duchess of Cornwall] were there."

Cousins met Prince Charles when he was younger and was full of praise for him and his mother. "They are the most understanding people

I have met. There is a royal air about them. They are so nice," he said.

Cousins did not look forward to coming back to this country after an unsuccessful Olympics but was grateful for the interest and support that was shown to him.

He said: "I was not looking forward to coming back but people have been supportive and wished me luck for next time."

"I was surprised at the support and I have not met many people who did not watch the Olympics on TV."

Cousins, who will be involved in British trials this weekend before competing in the European and World Championships next year, recently made a visit to a west Essex judo club where his twin brother Thomas is a coach.

Peter passed on some of his experience to the youngsters at the club in Stebbing, near Great Dunmow. "It was good to see my brother perform as a coach. I miss him being on the mat," said Peter.

"He is a brilliant coach. Before that he was at Canvey which is one of the most successful clubs in the country. Thomas has given them a lot of good results."

Depleted Ladies in stalemate

A CLINICAL edge was missing as a depleted Harlow side lost ground in the title race with Saturday's goalless draw against fourth-from-bottom Southend.

With a number of key personnel missing, Harlow looked to their squad for reinforcements and the players who came in produced gutsy performances to deny the visitors all three points.

The home side had periods of pressure, with short corner routines from Petra Trimble and Bethan Price troubling the Southend keeper.

However, it was the visitors who enjoyed the majority of possession.

Harlow keeper Nicky Newland had plenty to do and with Jo Green making a superb off-the-line clearance it looked to be only a matter of time before Southend converted their pressure into goals.

Harlow 0, Southend 0

(Essex Women's Hockey League, premier division)

The visitors hit a post twice in the second half but were unable to force their way through.

Player of the match Lielze Hansson and Sunny Tidsbury worked tirelessly throughout for Harlow.

Harlow enjoy a well deserved break this week and are next in action on November 8 when they visit second-placed Havering.

The draw left them in third place in the premier division, still within touching distance of leaders Croxtex.

HARLOW (squad): Newland, Johnson, Rowley, Hansson, Green, Price, Smith, Tidsbury, Donaghey, Amos, Douglas, Trimble.

Thurrock too good for Harlow

JOE Symonds' side remain two points clear of the bottom three despite a 3-1 defeat to fourth-placed Thurrock on Saturday.

Hosts Harlow began the game well with good pressure on the visitors' defence.

But the south east Essex side upped their game and scored when home keeper Richard Norris missed the ball from a short corner.

This young Harlow side, with an average age of just over 20, stormed back and levelled after good hard work from Craig Cholerton and Ben Light ended with the former firing home.

Thurrock regained the lead just before the break when their striker rifled in.

Symonds and Luke Krzoska

Harlow 1, Thurrock 3

(East Men's Hockey League, division three south east) worked hard in the centre after the break, passing and combining well with Cholerton and Ben Hagger in the wide areas.

Chances fell to Rob Chandler and Light to equalise but the away keeper and defence stayed resolute.

Thurrock hit Harlow on the break to wrap up the scoring with a reverse stick strike.

This came after a lengthy delay following a leg injury to the home skipper, who required treatment.

HARLOW: Norris, Jones, Gorringer, Kirk, Tovell, Symonds (c), Krzoska, Hagger, Cholerton, Light, Chandler.

Tye Green's double defeat to Barking

TYE Green Indoor Bowls Club suffered a defeat to title favourites Barking.

The Harlow rink skipped by Steve Mitchinson fought back from 10 shots down to win 24-22 in their Essex League match.

But losses were recorded by the four other skips – Richard Haley, Malcolm Tucker, Keith Chimes and Steve Tucker.

Pat Watford's rink beat the Barking rink by one shot in a close finish.

Overall this gave Barking an 11-2 victory. Tye Green also faced Barking in the Denny Cup, a national inter-club four-rink competition.

The two home rinks, skipped by Steve Tucker and Haley, were level overall and the two away rinks skipped by Mitchinson and Watford were just a few behind.

Haley's rink were more than 10 shots down but fought back for a draw.

But it was not enough as Barking went through 102-48 to reach the second round.

Baker blow for Robins

SAWBIDGEWORTH Town won 4-2 at home to London APSA in the Essex Senior Football League on Saturday.

However, the win came at a cost as midfielder Paul Baker snapped ligaments in an ankle and could be out for some time.

Dean Godden opened the scoring on 20 minutes before Jim Wyatt's lob made it 2-0 on 49 minutes.

Dan Hudson added the third and Wyatt's second on 70 minutes made it 4-0. London scored twice shortly after that.

In the Essex Olympian League premier division, EPPING lost 2-0 at Canning Town. An own goal and a Liam Egan strike secured the points.

POTTER STREET lost 4-0 at Frenford Senior. Scorers were Ricky Defreitas (3) and Frank McArdle.

First league triumph

ANNOR Harlow squash team gained their first win of the winter season with a comprehensive 5-0 success against Cannons.

Fifth string Peter Iszatt got Harlow off to a good start with a fine 15-10, 15-6, 15-9 win against the St Albans-based side.

Rob Coghlan won 15-13, 11-15, 15-12, 7-15, 15-13 while John Tennant sealed a 15-10, 12-15, 15-8, 12-15, 15-13 victory.

Second string Mike Symmons shared the first two games with his opponent before winning 15-5, 12-15, 15-13, 15-11.

First string Ian Gould completely outclassed his opponent winning 15-9, 15-9, 15-5.

Harlow won promotion after finishing second in Herts Squash League division four.

Ban blow for Hawks

"I am just happy for the team and the club and I hope they can get through another game," he said.

"We were lucky not to be 2-0 down at half-time but were dominant in the second half. We could have won by 5-0 or 6-0 in the end. The back four and the keeper were solid."

Richards also stressed the first round proper will be a chance for the youngsters in the squad to impress. "It's a great chance for the young boys in the team. You are in the shop window and you never know who is watching."

Champions beaten

LEAGUE champions Servo Hawks lost 6-3 to new team Stow Snooker despite 180s by Andy Tapscott, Jeff Etherington and Peter Rann.

Roy Leftwich also notched a 180 for Stow. Leaders White Admiral remain unbeaten after a 6-3 win against CC Whites.

Missed doubles let down CC, while shot of the match was a 171 from Alex Hogg which left partner Mick Rout 40 to shoot out and win their match.

Young Pretenders moved up to third place with a 7-2 victory over Moot House Arrows. Other results:- Mool House 8, FC Wonders 1; Golden Swift 5, UG Social 4; CC Foxes 4, CC Colts 5.

Big win for Ladies

HARLOW Rugby Club's women's team beat Tabard Ladies 33-0 at home in a friendly on Sunday. Nikki King (2), Abigail Perry, Kelly Cotterill and Keighley Diprose scored the tries. Emily Gizzi kicked four conversions.

Colts lose healthy lead as Rochford fight back for cup victory

THE lack of a ruthless edge cost Harlow dearly as they wasted a 13-point lead before losing 21-13 at Rochford in the first round of the Essex Colts Cup.

Harlow took a 13-0 lead during the first half thanks to a try from James Clark which was converted by Terry Blackwell, who also kicked two penalties.

However, the Young Rams relaxed and Rochford got back into contention with two penalties and an unconverted try to reduce the lead to 13-11 at the break.

Youth rugby

Harlow's decision to kick for territory rather than run the ball in the second half backfired on them.

Rochford scored a penalty midway through the half to go 14-13 up before scoring a converted try in the last few minutes.

Harlow U-17s won 13-12 at close rivals Bishop's Stortford.

The visitors had a 7-0 half-time lead courtesy of fly-half Danny Smith, who chipped the ball over the defence to touch down. He also kicked the conversion.

The hosts bounced back with two tries midway through the second half, one of which was converted to put them 12-7 ahead.

However, Smith kicked two conversions in the closing minutes to secure the win.

Visitors Old Verulamians only had nine players so

Harlow U-15s lent them two and an 11-side match was held.

A one-sided game saw the hosts triumph 73-12.

Harlow's try-scorers included Jamie Sinfield (4), Lewis Pucill (2), Jack Perry, Jay Humphries, Shane Evans and Ryan Matthew. Matthew (3) and Perry kicked the conversions.

Harlow U-14s were outclassed as they lost 53-0 at home to their Woodford counterparts.

The visitors scored nine tries and four conversions.

Harlow U-13s conceded three early tries in their 51-0 loss to Diss.

Rams player knocked out

PAUL Humphries, inset, was taken to hospital after suffering an horrific injury during the Rams' victory over Sudbury on Saturday.

A Sudbury player accidentally caught the Rams fly-half in the face with a knee after only five minutes, which left him unconscious.

There were fears of a neck injury and paramedics were called before he was treated and taken to hospital. He was discharged later that day.

"He has got a broken nose and whiplash," explained Rams skipper Paul Eynon. "It was a bit of a shock to us all and a massive relief later to learn that he will be okay. He will be out for a couple of weeks at least."

While Humphries was being treated there was a 10-minute delay before the

Harlow 14, Sudbury 6
(RFU London & SE division three north east)

match was switched to another pitch for the rest of the first half.

Humphries' slot was taken by James McFerran, while winger Will Grimley moved to centre and veteran Matt Howard came off the bench and onto the wing.

Both teams exchanged penalties on 10 and 13 minutes with Sudbury going ahead through Matthew Wooderson before McFerran replied.

The Suffolk side had the slope in their favour and the hosts resisted pressure before the Rams scored a 25th-minute penalty through McFerran.

Wooderson kicked a penalty to level the score at 6-6 at the break.

The second half was marked by accurate touch kicking from McFerran, while Eynon and forwards Darren Hawkins and Hans Barnard were dangerous in attack.

On 62 minutes, Rams prop Ricky McKinley was sin-binned for a fracas with a Sudbury player. Prop Rob Trearmer replaced flanker Mark Bowering so that Harlow could field a legal front row.

When Harlow returned to a full complement, the Sudbury fly-half was yellow carded for not releasing the ball and McFerran put the Rams 9-6 ahead with a penalty.

The outcome was not decided until the 78th minute when a good forwards move ended with lock Adam Paine brushing off two defenders to touch down for an unconverted try.

HARLOW: Mackie, L. Bowering, McFerran, Powell, James, Humphries (Howard 5), Harron, McKinley, Wilkins, Webb, Paine, Hawkins, Barnard (Roberts 70), M. Bowering (temp sub: Trearmer 62-72), Eynon.

● UPPER Clapton suffered their fifth successive league defeat when losing 54-22 at Wanstead in Essex division one on Saturday.

Club mourns death of Ball at 25

A MUCH-loved member of Harlow Rugby Club has died at the age of 25.

Ball, affectionately known as Cuddles, who was studying at university in Gloucestershire, played for the club's first and second teams as a front row forward. He also helped out as a coach for the club's ladies and colts teams.

The club has set up a special page on its website, where tributes have been paid to Ball. Club president Chris Locke, one of many to pay tribute to Ball, said: "Chris Ball was a gentle giant, and not just in stature. I will always remember him smiling and joking whatever the situation."

"He was also always willing to help anybody out. Rugby clubs desperately need people like Chris and he will be sadly missed by all."

He added: "Our thoughts and prayers are with his family at present, wishing them comfort in their time of sorrow."

A moving tribute was made by first team player Stuart Wilkins.

He said: "Cuddles [Chris Ball] was one of those guys that in all the years I knew him growing up and playing in the junior teams at the club and coaching and playing together when we was seniors he never had a bad word to say about anybody."

"He was a legend in my eyes and his memory will live on with me forever. Cuddles, I will really miss you buddy. Rest in peace, a great friend."

First team prop Paul Prindiville said: "Cuddles, you are one of a kind. You made everyone laugh and always saw the good in everyone."

SUPER SUB: Hawks striker James Bunn

Bunn breaks Burgess resistance in FA Cup tie

CLASS counted in the end as Harlow Town overcame a spirited Burgess Hill challenge to book a place in the first round proper of the FA Cup for the first time in 17 years.

Two second-half goals from substitute James Bunn and Jamie Richards' first-half strike gave the Hawks victory in Saturday's fourth qualifying round tie at Leylands Park.

The visitors, playing against the wind and slope in the first half, started shakily against the Ryman division one south side and after two minutes Steve Harper's shot hit the outside of a post.

Harlow went ahead against the run of play on 11 minutes. A neat one-two on the left between Richards and Beckett Hollenbach ended with the former's swerving shot beating the flailing dive of Craig Stoner. Shortly after, Ben Johnson's shot was brilliantly turned away by Hawks keeper James Hasell.

The hosts had the edge during the remainder of the half and could have equalised on 44 minutes. A slack back pass near the byline by Hollenbach resulted in Richard Greenfield passing to Harper, whose shot was well blocked by Hasell.

Harlow brought on Bunn for Tashan Adeyinka at the break. It was his first game for the first team since sustaining a knee injury on September 9.

The visitors had the edge after the break and almost scored on 64 minutes when Leon Lalite set up Richards who chipped the ball over the oncoming Stoner but this was cleared off the line by Justin Gregory. Stoner then saved well from Richards before Harlow doubled their advantage on 70 minutes. A Mark Taylor chip into the box was spilled by Stoner and Bunn tucked home.

Bunn then narrowly missed with a 30-yard lob before wrapping up the scoring on 82 minutes. Jordan Fowler fed Richards who teed up Bunn and the veteran front-man slotted home to sink Burgess.

Hawks player-boss Ryan Kirby said: "In the first half they were all over us and we rode our luck. They should have been 1-0 up.

"James [Bunn] made a difference. He held the ball up really well and could have scored a hat-trick."

HARLOW TN: Hasell 8, Taylor 6, Hollenbach 6, Chapman 7, Kear 7, Kirby 7, Fowler 6 (Lampe 90), Richards 8 (Charles 85), Adeyinka 5 (Bunn 45, 8), Green 7. Subs not used: Warren, Akers, Gliddon, Hardy (gk), Att 845. Yellow cards: Adeyinka, Green, Richards (all fouls).

● THE Hawks' match against Billericay Town in the Essex Senior Cup third round was abandoned after 55 minutes at Barrows Farm on Tuesday due to the adverse weather conditions. The score was 1-0 to Billericay when the game was halted.

The game has been rearranged for Tuesday November 11. The Ryman premier division match at Dover Athletic will now take place on Tuesday December 9, while the Hendon home league game has been rearranged for Tuesday December 16.

Ban blow for Hawks

JOY turned to heartbreak as Jamie Richards' yellow card during the 3-0 victory over Burgess Hill Town will mean he is ruled out of the FA Cup first round home tie against Macclesfield Town.

Richards (26), right, had earlier scored an excellent goal to set Harlow Town on their way before being cautioned for a foul on home keeper Craig Stoner.

It was his 5th yellow card of the season which means he will be out for the tie against the League Two club on November 8.

He is also ruled out of Saturday's Ryman premier division game at home to Canvey Island after being sent off against Dartford.

The striker, who was captain for last Saturday's FA Cup tie in East Sussex, told Star Sport: "The ref said it was a ball I was never going to win. I should not have gone for it. I knew it was going to break my heart and I knew I would miss the game. I said to the ref you are going to break my heart. I am gutted."

Richards, who has previously played in the FA Cup first round for Arlesey Town and Hayes, was still thrilled for his team-mates.

League team next for Harlow

THE Hawks' FA Cup dream took a new dimension when they received a plum tie against League Two Macclesfield Town in the first round in the live draw on ITV1 on Sunday.

Harlow Town have knocked out four Non-League sides so far, but the club has the chance to make history after being drawn at home to the Silkmen on Saturday November 8.

Hawks player-boss Ryan Kirby said: "We would have liked a big team away like Leeds or a league club at home. It's nice to get a league team at home.

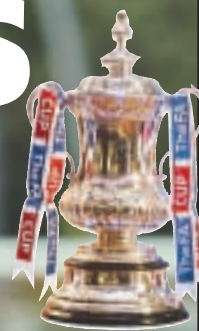

"It's fantastic and it will be good for our supporters. It will be exciting. It's a one-off and anything can happen."

He added: "Every year there is a giant-killing and it's nice to have a chance of an upset."

Club chairman Simon Morgan said: "It's great to be in the first round proper of the FA Cup and it's a great draw for us. I'm very proud of what we have achieved so far and to be chairman of this football club."

Tickets will be £15 for adults. For more information call the club on (01279) 445319.
